
CREATING CONNECTIONS,
CELEBRATING OUR SISTERHOOD

November 9–11, 2018

The Mount Holyoke Black Alumnae Society

Congratulates

Alumnae and Students on

50 Years

of

Leadership and Activism

Welcome

Welcome back to campus! We are excited that you have returned to celebrate 50 years of creating community and celebrating sisterhood at Mount Holyoke College. Our weekend of panels, speakers and conversations will allow us to share experiences at Mount Holyoke and the impact that black women have had on the College and the world. At this particular moment in history it is fitting that we convene to look back on our history of leadership and activism on this campus and beyond, in order to return to our work in the world with a new sense of connection, support and resolve.

History

The first Black Alumnae Conference was held in 1973. This conference is a special one because it is the 15th Triennial Black Alumnae Conference. Meetings of the Black Alumnae are rooted in the leadership and activism of the members of the classes of the 1960s and 1970s who worked together to create spaces and opportunities for black women on campus.

We also celebrate two other milestones that highlight the courage and strength of Black Mount Holyoke Women: the 50th Anniversary of the founding of the Afro-American Society in 1967 (now the Association of Pan African Unity), and the Black Cultural Center in 1968 (now The Betty Shabazz Cultural Center). In their efforts to bring their cultural understandings onto campus, black women reshaped Mount Holyoke College into a more inclusive community and passed on a legacy of struggle, support and sisterhood. This weekend we celebrate our growing circle of sisterhood and acknowledge leaders within that circle.

BIOGRAPHIES

Akua Soadwa '03

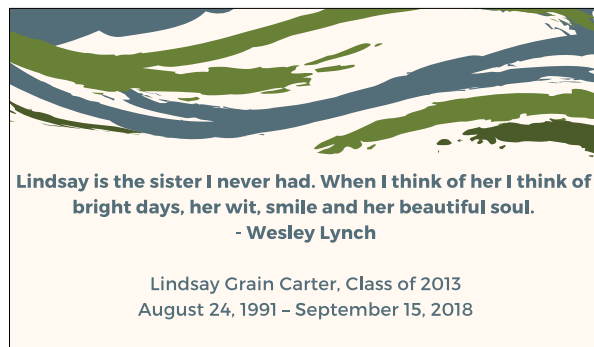

Akua Serwa Soadwa is the founder of Let's Pursue You and is a transformational coach, writer, teacher, leader and speaker. She is a visionary who creates movements, moments and monumental shifts and is committed to our individual and collective consciousness of remembering who we are and what our gifts are. Everything she creates and offers is in service of awakening and amplifying the souls of others for the betterment and liberation of the individual, the family, the community and the world. Holding a master's degree in urban planning, design and development, with a focus in community development, Soadwa believes her work is transforming urban planning through putting the human experience first. Soadwa is also the founder of the Gye Nyame Empowerment Project and the Sista-2-Sista Youth Summit, the vice president of dream directing at the Future Project, the former assistant camp director for the Lil Raggamuffin Summer Camp, and a proud auntie of four nieces and one nephew.

Bridget Grier '14

Bridget Linae Grier is a student at University of Michigan Law School, where she serves on the boards of the Black Law Student Association and the Art, Museum and Cultural Heritage Law Society, and as a member of the faculty hiring committee. She is also a member of the student collective at the University of Michigan Museum of Art. Grier was project coordinator for Clemency Project 2014. She also worked on the University of Michigan Museum of Art's Engaged Learning Collections Access Project. Most recently, she worked for the Smithsonian Associates as operations coordinator for education and cultural programs. In 2017 Bridget participated in the Tulane Siena Institute for International Law, Cultural Heritage and the Arts. While at Mount Holyoke, Bridget served on the boards of the Association of Pan African Unity and Students Against Mass Incarceration and was president of the Xi Nu chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Inc.

BIOGRAPHIES

Brittany Lambert '16

Brittany Lambert graduated with a self-designed major in social inequality and a minor in English. She has worked at HubSpot for two-and-a-half years and is currently a product coach. She was recently selected as a culture coordinator in charge of events and programming. Lambert also serves as volunteer captain and youth ministry coordinator at her church. At Mount Holyoke, Lambert served as public relations chair for The Network, worked in the SAW Center, was a copy editor and a books co-editor for The Mount Holyoke News and was appointed to the Five College coordinating committee. She was also editor-in-chief of the Lllamarada and has served as class board secretary since her senior year. Since graduation, her love of food and photography has taken her to Mexico, Portugal, Hungary and Ireland, and she is already looking forward to her next adventure.

Carla Richardson Lambert '88

After graduating from Mount Holyoke, Carla Richardson Lambert pursued her medical degree at Howard University College of Medicine and completed her residency in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. She worked for 14 years at Unity Health Care, the largest provider of care for the underserved and homeless in Washington, D.C. During that time, she held many leadership positions, including associate director of family medicine and medical director of the East of the River Community Health Center. After opening her private practice, Truly Blessed Health & Wellness Center, she continued her commitment to helping those less fortunate by serving as medical director of another safety-net clinic in Maryland. Dr. Lambert loves caring for multigenerational families and believes this is not just her profession but her calling. In her scarce free time, she enjoys reading, hiking with her family, avoiding the gym and waiting for the next Mountain Day – with ice cream, of course!

Deborah Smith Konrad '77

Deborah Smith Konrad has had a varied career that continues to evolve. She became a stockbroker in 1986, went into money management in 1991 at a minority-owned investment management firm in Los Angeles, and then moved back to her hometown of Houston, Texas, in 1992. Her return was opportune; her mother suffered a major stroke and was diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease, and Konrad became her caregiver. After her mother's passing, Konrad developed a passion for genealogy. Her research has become an avocation that has placed her in front of genealogical societies such as the Galveston Historical Foundation and the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War. In 2014 she published a family memoir, "The Blessing of Movement." Konrad holds a master's in health-care administration, completed while caring for her sister during the final year of her life. She is working on her next book. Konrad lives in Cypress, Texas, with her husband, Nelson, of 16 years, and their fur baby, Kane.

BIOGRAPHIES

Franckline Casimir-Benoit '86

Franckline Casimir-Benoit is an accomplished wealth management professional with more than 25 years of experience working in estate and trust. She earned a J.D. from the University of Connecticut School of Law and is admitted into the bar in Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York and Washington, D.C. Casimir-Benoit is a certified trust and financial advisor and was awarded the Claritas Investment Certificate in 2013. In 2018, she was appointed to the American Bankers Association's CTFA Advisory Board. She is currently a member of the Estate Planning Council of Bergen County and the Heart Advisory Council of the American Heart Association. She serves as the chair on the board of trustees of the New Jerusalem Baptist Church. She is a founding member of the nonprofit Ecole Salem Education EBNJ Inc. in Irvington, New Jersey, and is a proud board member of the Haitian American Nurses Association of Garden State. Casimir-Benoit is married to Garry Benoit, and they have three children. Ms. Casimir-Benoit is grateful for the education that she received from Mount Holyoke College and, as a proud alumna, is still processing the term "MoHo."

Laverne Berry '71

Laverne Berry is an entertainment and media business affairs attorney representing independent film and television producers, directors, production companies, distribution companies, authors and media companies. For 18 years she was a television producer and distribution executive, acting as executive producer for "Perfectly Normal for Me" (produced by Elizabeth Hemmerdinger) and "The Silent Truth." She was the co-executive producer for Emmy-nominated "Chely Wright: Wish Me Away" and "The Lady in Question Is Charles Busch." Berry was both a subject and producer of the documentary "Capturing the Flag." She has been involved in alternative dispute resolution for 20 years. She is a member of the World Intellectual Property Organization Dispute Panel, American Arbitration Association Commercial Arbitration Panel and Mediation Panel. Named a New York Metro Area Super Lawyer for five years by Thomson Reuters, she has been included in the New York Metro Super Lawyers supplement to The New York Times.

BIOGRAPHIES

Lee Carol Johnson Cook '83

Lee Carol Johnson Cook is a stay-at-home parent who enjoys volunteering. She is the former director of admission and past career services counselor at the Georgetown University Law Center. Before that, Cook practiced law with Reed Smith and with Pierson, Ball & Dowd. Cook currently serves on the board of The Madeira School, where she is the president of the Parents' Association, on the board's diversity and annual fund committees, and on The Madeira School Fund Parents Committee. She is an active member of the Reston Chapter of Jack and Jill of America, Inc.; the Posse Foundation's DC Posse; and the AnBryce Foundation's advisory board. In 2014 at the 35th National Genealogy Conference of the Afro-American Historical and Genealogical Society, Cook spoke about documenting her family history in "Reweaving the Threads of a Tattered Family Story: Using Research to Fill in Holes in Oral History."

Sherri Burr '81

Sherri Burr holds the Dickason Chair in Law Emirata and is Regents Professor Emerita at the University of New Mexico School of Law. She holds degrees from Mount Holyoke College, Princeton University and Yale Law School. An award-winning author of 26 books, including "A Short & Happy Guide to Financial Well-Being," Burr has also written scholarly articles, book chapters, travel pieces and newspaper columns. For 19 years she produced and hosted the award-winning television show "Arts Talk," dozens of episodes of which remain available on YouTube. A leading authority on entertainment law, Burr has interviewed numerous actors, directors and authors. In May 2018 she was named president of New Mexico Press Women.

W. Rochelle Calhoun '83

W. Rochelle Calhoun is vice president for campus life at Princeton University, where she has administrative oversight for matters that help to shape the student experience at Princeton, including athletics and campus recreation, career services, health services, religious life, diversity and inclusion, residential life, service and student activities. She began her career in college administration while still a graduate student at Columbia University working with Playwrights Horizon Theatre to coordinate curricular and co-curricular programs for their NYU students. She joined Mount Holyoke College in 1992 as ombudsperson and in 1999 became dean of students responsible for working with students of color and cultural organizations. She later became director of diversity and inclusion and associate dean of the college. In 2002 she was named acting dean of the college and in 2003 became executive director of the Alumnae Association. In 2008 she joined Skidmore College, serving as dean of students and, later, vice president for student affairs, where her achievements included helping to lead a $42 million housing initiative, revising the Sexual and Gender-Based Misconduct Policy, restructuring and renaming the career center, and supervising development of a $78 million comprehensive athletics facilities plan.
